CONFERENCES.

The General Conference, our law-making body, which meets every four years, shall be composed of one clerical member for every forty-eight members of each Annual Conference, and an equal number of lay members. The clerical representatives shall be elected by clerical members of the Annual Conference, and the lay representatives by lay members.

The Annual Conference is composed of all the traveling preachers in full connection with it, and four lay representatives from each presiding elder's district. The lay members are elected by the laymen of each District Conference. Such members must be twenty-five years of age, and they must have been members of the Church for six years.

The District Conference shall be composed of all the preachers, traveling and local, of the district, the recording stewards of the same, and of laymen, the number of whom, and manner of appointment, each Annual Conference may decide for itself. In compliance with this provision, the Holston Conference, in session at Abingdon, Va., in 1879, fixed the ratio at one delegate for every eighty laymen, to be elected by the Quarterly Conference of the several pastoral charges embraced in the said district; provided, that no charge shall be entitled to more than eight, nor denied a less number than four, delegates. The District Conference meets annually.

The Quarterly Conference shall be composed of all the traveling and local preachers, including superannuated preachers residing within the circuit or station (whether without or within the limits of the Annual Conference to which they belong), with the exhorters, stewards, trustees who are members of the Church, and class-leaders, of the respective circuits, stations, and missions, together with superintendents of Sunday-schools who are members of the Church, secretaries of Church Conferences, presidents of Senior Epworth Leagues, if eligible, and none others.

The Church Conference consists of all the members of a particular charge, or class, with resident members of the Annual Conference. It should meet once a month on stations, once a quarter on circuits.

Whereas, the duty of our generation calls the Church to larger and more systematic giving than has been practiced in the past; and, whereas, all of our people do not do their whole duty in giving; and, whereas, we believe that the safest and surest way to success is by education and informing the whole body of our people; therefore,

Resolved, first, That we recommend to the Boards having charge of the benevolences, namely, the Board of Missions, the Board of Church Extension, the Board of Education, the Bible Board and the Joint Boards of Finance, that they co-operate with each other in publishing a leaflet setting forth in brief but clear form the needs and imperative demands of these various causes.

Resolved, second, That we recommend to the aforementioned Boards to appropriate at this session of Holston Conference, sums sufficient to secure the publication of a sufficient number of said tracts to furnish through our pastors a copy to each member of the Church in Holston Conference.

Resolved, third, That we recommend that each Board appoint one of its members to act with the others so appointed as a publishing committee, and this committee elect an editor for the aforementioned leaflets.

Dear Sir and Brethren—It is now two years since I met you in Conference session. What a great privation! But it is only one privation among many. I am still dragging my weary self along, and most of the time drag very heavily. I have reached the point where my "strength is labor and sorrow." It will soon be cut off and I will fly away. I would like to see how our own new Bishop Hoss presides, but, of course, he will do it as he has done everything else that he has put his hand to—well. Would like to attend the Memorial Service, but, alas, I cannot. Some of the veterans have passed away. Peace to their ashes and rest to thir souls. God bless their loved ones left behind.

In much love I am yours,

WM. ROBESON.

PART OF THE CLASS ADMITTED ON TRIAL—1903.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 3, 1903.

To the Bishop and Members of the Holston Conference, M. E. Church, South:

Dear Brethren—As the time of your Annual session approached I have desired to be with you at Morristown where I met some of you in 1871 with Bishop Pierce, and again in 1880 with Bishop McTyene, but my circumstances forbid me this pleasure.

Since I was admitted on trial in the Alabama Conference in 1852 I have known every Bishop of our Church and have enjoyed the personal friendship of most of them. I have been a member of four of our Annual Conferences and have seen the names of many of my pupils enrolled in the Conferences from Holston to California. When I was admitted on trial the salary of a traveling preacher was one hundred dollars and I expected to receive no more than that till my reward in Heaven. I cannot but feel a deep interest in the spread of that work to which I have given so many years.

At the time of your last session I was just recovering from an illness which brought me near the gates of death, but afterward I was able to continue my work in the College till the close of the school year. It was then decided by the Board of Trustees that I had better retire from active work. I have not felt able to preach often since my illness but have done some writing and other work in the interest of religion. Praying the Divine blessing upon your present session, I am your fellow-servant in Christ,

F. M. GRACE.

CONFERENCE REPORTS.

JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

No. 1.

Whereas, Various well-disposed persons, in times past, have donated sums of money to make a perpetual fund, the annual interest of which was to be used in the support of superannuated preachers and the widows and minor children of deceased ministers of the Holston Annual Conference, and from a neglect of the employment of proper business methods a large part of such donations has unfortunately been lost; therefore,

Resolved—1. That a committee of three persons, one layman and two ministers, be nominated by the presiding bishop and elected by the Conference, whose duty shall be to look after all funds donated heretofore, now on hands, or that may be hereafter donated for the benefit of the worn-out preachers, widows and orphans, and, where it can be legally done, to take charge of such funds and loan the same as hereinafter directed, and at each annual session of the Holston Conference will report in writing to the Joint Board of Finance the amount of said fund, to whom loaned, and how secured.

2. It shall be the duty of said three trustees to loan said funds at six per cent. interest, payable annually, or invest the same in six per cent. first mortgage bonds, when it can be done, and when invested in bonds the same must be first mortgage bonds bearing six per cent. interest and based on realty of twice the value of the bonds so purchased; or if the bonds so purchased are a part of a series of bonds issued, then the whole series of bonds must rest upon realty of twice their value. But if said funds can not be invested in such bonds, then said trustees may loan said funds on personal security, taking notes payable to themselves as trustees, and not less than two solvent securities must be taken to each note, and each security must be of undoubted solvency in double the amount of the note so secured. Any note thus taken, or any bonds purchased, will be kept by said trustees as a special deposit in a fire-proof safe or vault of some banking or trust company, to be selected by said trustees.

3. The trustees of the Wall fund, under the will containing the bequest in favor of the superannuates and widows and orphans of our deceased ministers, are hereby requested to have said bequest collected and invested in first mortgage bonds, as hereinbefore set forth; or, if agreeable to them, and they can lawfully do so, to collect said funds and turn them over to the trustees elected by the Holston Annual Conference, to be loaned out or invested by them as hereinbefore indicated.

4. Hereafter it shall be the duty of the Joint Board of Finance during each annual session of the Conference to report to that body the amounts of the several funds, how invested, or if loaned, the character of the security, as to extent and solvency.

5. That our Church papers, pastors and presiding elders keep it before our people that all bequests made to aid in the support of our superannuates and the widows and children of our deceased ministers, should be made to the trustees elected by this Conference to control such funds.

No. 2.

With profound gratitude to God we note the progress of the work of securing the Superannuate Endowment Fund. In a little more than one year one hundred and sixty thousand dollars have been secured in notes and cash. We heartily commend the efficient industry of the agent, Dr. A. F. Watkins, and pledge to him our heartiest sympathy and co-operation in the great work assigned him. We recommend that attention be called to the Superannuate Endowment Fund by the presiding elders in the quarterly meetings and District Conferences; be it also

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD.

No. 1.

During the year past it has been the policy of the Sunday School Board to push its work along the following lines: A better and more universal observance of Children's Day, the organization of every Sunday School into a missionary society, and the systematic prosecution of the work of the Bible Teachers' Study Circle. While the work has not been a failure along any one of these lines, there has not been that large measure of success which we had desired, and which we had good reason to expect.

It is much to be regretted that in many cases Children's Day is wholly neglected, in other cases little preparation is made for it, and in still others its importance is minified by holding it at the Sunday school hour, or in the Sunday school room and having the regular preaching at the morning hour. This Board considers this of enough importance to give the whole Sunday morning preaching hour to the Children's Day service.

One teacher in the Holston Conference has completed the two courses. Two preachers have completed the first year's course. And besides these seventeen other teachers have completed the first year's course. Quite a number of cricles are organized and now rest in state of suspended animation, and it is the earnest desire of the Board that the prachers see to it these be revived, and carry on their work to a successful completion.

The Board is wholly dependent upon the pastors of the respective charges for the success of this work. To them we now make our most earnest appeal, that every pastor will get the books, read them carefully, then organize, or reorganize the circle, and help the leader to carry it on.

JOHN C. ORR, Chairman.

No. 2.

Your Sunday School Board find that there is a healthy interest in Sunday School work throughout the Conference. There are 689 schools, 4,792 officers and teachers and an enrollment of 51,160 scholars; 4,266 increase; $44.79 have been reported to the statistical secretary that has not been reported to the treasurer. We offer the following resolutions:

1. That all our Sunday Schools give the fifth Sunday collections to the Greenville Orphanage.

2. That all our Sunday Schools be organized into missionary societies according to the Discipline, and that the collection one Sunday in each month be given to missions.

3. That we commend more and more "The Bible Teachers' Study Circle." We ask with more earnestness than heretofore that all our preachers get the books and read them, and thus put themselves in position properly to commend the work to the superintendents and teachers.

4. That we will carefully and diligently observe Children's Day.

5. That we observe Decision Day at least once a year in our Sunday Schools wherever it can be done.

6. That we recognize the high grade of Sunday School literature furnished by our Publishing House, and urge that it be used by all our schools.

BIBLE BOARD.

No. 1.

The American Bible Society continues to have a conspicuous share in the benevolent and missionary activities of this and other lands. An increasing demand comes from foreign shores, and to these appeals they are listening and giving help to the very best of their ability. More than one-half of the issues of this society go in various tongues to supply the needs and desires of the destitute on distant shores. The issues during the past year have been nearly two millions, counting Bibles, Testaments and portions. This is the largest issue in the history of the society. The increase over last year being 269,767. Of these, 734,649 were distributed in the United States, an increase of 47,894; and 1,258,909 in foreign fields, an increase of 221,873. Of these 993,454 were from the Bible House in New York and 1,000,104 from the society's agencies abroad, being printed on mission presses in China, Japan, Siam, Syria and Turkey.

There has been a falling off in receipts of $73,000, caused by a decrease in gifts, legacies and receipts from auxiliary societies. To supply this deficit we urge increased contributions from churches.

The Bible Society Record, the organ of the society, keeps members and friends posted as to the work of the society and we commend it to all who desire to be well posted on this work. In addition the society publishes about seventy-five leaflets bearing on various phases of the work which it distributes in reasonable quantities gratis to those applying for them.

The society employs six field agents, covering the United States, of whom our own George D. French is one, with Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana as his field. They also employ one colored man to labor especially with his own people. In addition to these there are twelve foreign agencies employing 440 persons in the distribution of the Bible. Thus we see somewhat of the extent of this great work.

The British and Foreign Bible Society has set apart March 6, 1904, as the centennial anniversary of the organization of their society, and request that all Protestant Churches in the world observe that day as Bible Day. Therefore, Resolved, first, That we observe March 6, 1904, as Bible Day, and hold on that day special services looking to the interests of the Bible and its increased distribution.

Resolved, second, That we assess $900 for the American Bible Society and distribute the same as follows: Radford District, $100; Wytheville District, $100; Big Stone Gap District, $60; Knoxville District, $110; Chattanooga District, $100; Tazewell District, $100; Abingdon District, $105; Morristown District, $95; Cleveland District, $80; Spring City District, $50.

SPIRITUAL STATE OF THE CHURCH.

We have heard the verbal reports of the Presiding Elders, and note with pleasure the progress that has been made during the year. There have been more than six thousand professions of conversion, and over three thousand added to the church. To your committee this is cause for joy. It will be a sad day for our Church, if the revival fires are ever allowed to go out.

Another sign of spiritual growth is, the building and repairing of churches and parsonages, and an increase in ministerial support. There is a growing desire among our people to pay in full all the collections ordered by the Conference. But while we rejoice in all this, we do feel that there should be an increase in the number of family altars, and prayer meetings, and in attendance on all the social and business meetings of the Church.

J. S. W. NEEL, Chairman.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Possibly the pastors and League officials have not engaged their attention and time as much to the interests of this branch of the work as they might have done. At any rate we are forced to report a falling off in the number of Senior Chapters; while this is painful we are gratified to report an increase in the number of Junior Chapters and the amount of money raised by the Leagues for the extension of our Lord's kingdom. Pastors' reports show the following: Senior Leagues, 110; decrease, 11. Junior Leagues, 70; increase, 3. League members, 6,164; decrease, 572. Money raised for missions, $1,476.93; money raised for other objects, $2,041.60; total, $3,518.53; increase $201. We believe this shows a growth both in interest and usefulness.

The League Conference at Grace Church, Bluefield, W. Va., last June was, doubtless, the best we have ever had and this board heartily recommends the continuance of it, and earnestly solicits the hearty co-operation of every pastor and layman in the bounds of Holston.

Special attention is directed to the League Reading Course prescribed by the General Board; also to the institute department, conducted by Rev. H. W. Featherstone, in the Epworth Era. In this connection the Epworth Era, edited by H. M. DuBose, D. D., is cheerfully endorsed and recommended. We suggest that the League District Secretaries hold an annual District League meeting and to that end this Board pledges its assistance anywhere and everywhere when called upon.

E. A. SHUGART, Pres't.

TEMPERANCE.

Your committee on temperance believe that we as a Conference have more reason for joy and encouragement than ever before in our great work. The changed attitude of that bold, great power, the secular press, we take as an omen of complete and permanent victory over saloons.

The action of the late State Legislature, which has relieved so many of our towns of the saloon curse, we believe to be the result of the harmony of purpose and effort of all denominations and good men in this section, and also that this victory is an indication of the final overthrow of saloons and kindred evils.

While we rejoice in the success of the Gospel in all lands and especially in our mission fields, we deeply deplore the fact that an American saloon goes with every missionary to every foreign field. We, therefore, recommend:

First—That every minister and layman of the M. E. Church, South, use all lawful means, both by private work and public utterance, to enforce and extend the Adams law.

Second—That we do all possible to influence our national legislators to give us legislation, to prevent the exportation of strong drink into our recently acquired territory.

Third—That we be diligent in the use of all legitimate means to secure the passage by the United States Senate and Congress of the Hepburn bill.

A. D. REYNOLDS, Chairman.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

No. 1.

Your Board of Education, viewing its duties in the light of the constitution adopted for its guidance one year ago, earnestly desires to promote the Christian education of all our young people and children through exerting its influence to improve our homes, local churches, and schools as institutions of Christian nurture, education and culture.

In accordance with this purpose, the first work of the Board during the Conference year now closing was to elicit information concerning the state of these three classes of institutions throughout the Conference and to provoke discussion of those features of their life and organization deemed essential to the realization of their teaching power and influence. The answers given to questions asked were not given or regarded as absolutely correct, but as closely approximating the truth. From these answers we conclude that about one in seven of our homes have family altars, while scarcely so many have anything like an adequate supply of Christian literature. The showing as regards instruction of the children in the Bible and their training to habits of prayer, however, was much more encouraging, including about fifty per centum of the entire number of families. About one hundred and fifty of our eight hundred and twenty-two local churches were without Sunday schools during any part of the year, while about seven hundred had no Senior Leagues, and at least seven hundred and fifty were without a Junior League. All these facts were quite disquieting to us, and the discussions which followed their presentation were intended to beget earnest effort upon the part of pastors to erect family altars, circulate Christian literature, secure systematic instruction of the children in the home, increase the number and efficiency of our Sunday schools, Epworth Leagues—Senior and Junior—and do whatever else might be deemed practicable in securing an ideal organization of the home and church for purposes of Christian education.

Before passing to a special notice of our schools in the light of the most recent reports that we have had from them, we wish to record it as our profound and abiding conviction that no broad, wise, and powerful educational revival can come until we have awakened in the home a sense of the just measure and great weight of obligation that rests upon it to begin and continue through the whole length of the human life a work of Christian education, and have likewise aroused each local church to a sense of its responsibility as an educator of its membership and the community in which it stands and of its need of realizing in its organization and life all those minor organizations provided for in our Book of Discipline as essential to the exercise of its teaching functions.

We would further record, as a conviction no less deep and abiding, that, if our people ever furnish to the schools the quality of material necessary to the production of the highest type of Christian manhood and womanhood, it must be after we have homes and churches that have recognized and discharged their obligations in the preparation of such material, and that, if ever the work that we are attempting to do through our schools of various grades is appreciated by our people to the extent that they will give us all needed patronage and money, they must see themselves as co-workers and recognize the schools as an essential class of institutions in a great system of Christian education under the supervision of their Church.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

The secondary schools owned by our Church within the bounds of this Conference are Princeton Academy, Russell Academy, Jonesville Academy, People's College and Pryor Institute.

Princeton Academy furnishes high school privileges to our people within the bounds of Radford and Tazewell Districts, being on the border and about equally accessible to each. The school during the Conference year now closing has been quite prosperous, owing to the loyal support it has received from our people, clerical and lay, of both districts. It is a good property, admirably located, deserves, and, we trust, will continue to have, the loyal support of those whose interests it was built to serve.

Russell Academy, located at Lebanon, Va., is well patronized, and, if properly managed, will continue to thrive and increasingly serve an important and growing section of our Conference.

Jonesville Academy, located at Jonesville, Va., has been within the past two years much improved in buildings and furnishings, and enjoys the blessings of an enlarged usefulness.

People's College, located at Pikeville, Tenn., closed a successful session in May, but was so unfortunate as to lose quite unexpectedly by resignation during the vacation its principal, Prof. Robert Davis. We are pleased to note, however, that temporary arrangements have been made for carrying on the work of the school, and that the trustees are adding to the equipment by erecting a new boarding house.

Pryor Institute, located at Jasper, Tenn., during the past two years has suffered a decline. But since the close of its last session, the trustees in co-operation with your Board has succeeded in recognizing the school upon a new basis, and have been so fortunate as to secure as principal, Prof. W. M. Dossett. Your Board has had the pleasure of an interview with Prof. Dossett, and are much pleased with the spirit and plan of his work. This school is heartily commended by us as worthy of the patronage of our people.

CENTENARY COLLEGE.

This school, in charge of Rev. J. A. Stubblefield and Dr. David Sullins, was reported to us by President Stubblefield as entering upon, in many respects, the best year of its history, the enrollment to date being one hundred and sixty-three pupils, one hundred and twenty-one of whom are boarding pupils. We mention as most gratifying facts connected with the report the ability of the school through its income to pay, not only the interest on its indebtedness, reported as $12,500 last year, but also to begin the work of reducing the debt by retiring bonds.

SULLINS COLLEGE.

This institution, which, during the past five years, has been under the management of Rev. S. N. Barker, and conducted somewhat as a private school, through an arrangement effected by Dr. R. G. Waterhouse, Rev. W. M. Dyer and Rev. T. R. Handy with the trustees, has become associated in management with Emory and Henry and Martha Washington Colleges, and has been put on the way, we trust, to thorough adjustment to the other schools of the Conference that belong in fee simple to our Church. The new session, under all the conditions, has opened very encouragingly, and the prospect of getting rid of some hurtful and annoying causes of friction in the past is now quite encouraging. It may be truthfully said that no single body of Methodist men in our Conference has shown more devotion to the cause of Christian education by their donations than have the trustees and friends of Sullins College.

MARTHA WASHINGTON COLLEGE.

This, the oldest of our female colleges, closed last June the most prosperous year of its history, the enrollment being 175, of whom 118 were boarding pupils. The income of the college during the administration of President Dyer has been, not only sufficient to meet the running expenses, but also to enable the trustees to add some $10,000 to the value of the buildings and equipment. The indebtedness of the institution has been also reduced from $22,000 to $16,000, mainly through the liberality of friends living in and near Abingdon. The present session gives promise of being equal to, if not excelling, the last in the extent of its patronage.

EMORY AND HENRY COLLEGE.

This institution shows through its catalogue an enrollment for the past session exceeding that of any other during the past thirteen years, and the enrollment for the new session has already nearly equaled that of the past year. The report of the treasurer, made in commendable detail and fullness to this Board, shows that the earnings and income of the college from all sources has enabled the treasury to meet all current expenses, reduce the indebtedness some $300, and invest $3,379.87 in a new building, known as the Students' Home. This Conference at its session in Wytheville, Va., one year ago had the happiness to hear from one of the ladies of Emory, Va., a statement of the ideas entertained by the administration of this college touching the introduction of home features and home influence into the dormitory life of students. The Conference will be gratified, we think, to know that the main wing of this building is now nearly completed and that, in addition to elegant rooming accommodations for twenty-four boys, it provides two spacious, well lighted, and tastefully finished rooms, one of which is to be used as a parlor, and the other for a reading room and reference library, thus affording facilities not hitherto enjoyed for the introduction of said features and influence.

The trustees of this college during their last annual session directed their executive committee to present to this Conference a request for permission to so change the constitution of the college as to enable them to elect a vice-president, and to also present a general scheme of improvements, and especially to present in detail and accurate estimate the plans and cost for renovating the main building and securing a system of water-works. These directions said executive committee has not been able fully to carry out, owing to reasons which we deem sufficient and satisfactory. But your Board heartily endorses the idea, believing that the time has come when this scheme of improvements can and should be heartily entered upon. We would, therefore, recommend that the Executive Committee of your Board co-operate with that of the trustees in deciding upon this scheme and in working up these details, and that you appoint a committee of eleven pastors to meet with these executive committees so soon as the plans and estimates have been determined upon by said committees for the purpose of reviewing and endorsing the same after such modification or modifications as they may deem proper, and for the further purpose of inaugurating measures through which to secure the means for carrying them out. We nominate the following to constitute the committee of pastors: J. A. Burrow, J. T. Frazier, E. H. Cassidy, J. W. Perry, R. K. Sutherland, Frank Richardson, J. S. French, J. C. Orr, L. L. H. Carlock, J. O. Straley, J. I. Cash. We also recommend concurrence in the proposed amendment to the constitution providing for the election of vice-president.

Indebtedness—The Twentieth Century Movement, inaugurated in the session of the Holston Conference held in this town five years ago, was intended to raise a fund that should be applied first of all to paying off indebtedness upon the three colleges at that time reported as belonging in fee simple to our Church. They were Emory and Henry, Martha Washington, and Centenary. The aggregate indebtedness on these institutions as then reported was $73,000. It is a matter of sincere regret to us that the money coming into our treasury has not been sufficient to pay off this indebtedness by nearly $44,000. Nothing hinders growth like lingering debt, and it is the worst possible policy to tolerate its continuance. We, therefore, direct that the Executive Committee of this Board ascertain as quickly and thoroughly as possible what amount of Twentieth Century notes and subscriptions uncollected can still be reasonably relied on to aid in diminishing this amount, and, further, to ascertain what there is among the resources of the three colleges named that may be utilized for the same purpose, counting in those resources the large local subscriptions almost always possible in communities where the colleges are situated, and, after having secured such information, it shall be transmitted to the above named committee of pastors, who shall decide upon a plan to be put immediately into operation for the complete liquidation of the entire indebtedness.

Accredited School—The Rev. M. P. Carico, a member of your body, together with the Presiding Elders and some of the preachers of the Tazewell District, was before the Board giving us an account of a training school recently inaugurated at Graham, Va., under the principalship of Bro. Carico, and offering to the Conference the control of its educational policy. We recommend the acceptance of this proposition with the express understanding that we assume no financial responsibility.

Correspondence School—The Board heard with pleasure Prof. J. L. Cunningham concerning the plans, ideas, and methods of the Correspondence school recently inaugurated by the General Board of Education as directed by our last General Conference. We commend this school to all our preachers and especially to the undergraduates as offering to them most valuable instruction, inspiration, and guidance in the mastery of their courses.

Special Sermons—Dr. J. D. Hammond, secretary of the General Board, also favored us by his presence and a statement of the work that Board is doing. We recommend the observance of the month of May in all our stations as the appropriate time for the series of sermons on Christian Education provided for in a program of the General Board, and the months of July and August for such a series of sermons on all our circuits.

Appointments—We request the appointment of A. S. Thorn as principal of Athens Normal School; J. E. Lowry as president, and J. H. Summitt as teacher in Hiwassee College; W. D. Akers and L. O. Adams as teachers in Asbury College; M. P. Carico as principal of Epworth Institute, and J. A. Lyons as secretary of education.

Boards of Visitors—We nominate the following Boards of Visitors to our schools:

Martha Washington College.—Eugene Blake, G. L. Byram, J. E. Naff, J. A. Lyons, T. J. Eskridge, L. L. H. Carlock, R. G. Waterhouse, J. A. Maiden, J. L. Prater, E. F. Kohle, J. W. W. Shuler, C. W. Kelley, J. W. Perry.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

No. 1.

Your Board of Missions returns grateful thanks to Almighty God, that gracious revivals have been held in most of our Mission charges, in which there have been a large number of professions of faith in Christ. During this year five young men have been licensed to preach in these fields, assuring us that our labors have not been in vain.

Our mid-year meeting held at Marion, Va., was a source of inspiration, not only to those who were present, but through them, to others with whom they came in contact. The review of the field at such a time makes plain the need and furnishes helpful suggestions for use during the remainder of the year. We ask the Sunday School Board, Epworth League Board, Church Extension Board, and Board of Education to join us in our next meeting.

Under the change inaugurated by the General Board, the "Go Forward" has been much enlarged and covers a wider range of topics. It deserves the largest possible circulation, and the price, 25 cents per annum, puts it in reach of every home, however poor. No Methodist family can afford to be without it. We urge our pastors to spend at least one day during the coming year in an effort to increase the subscription list of this most excellent paper.

The Wesley Bicentenary Missionary Movement is assuming large proportions and promises soon to reach the expectation of its inaugurators. The collection taken here on Thursday evening by Bishop Galloway for the Congo Industrial School amounted to $2,500. We commend this enterprise to our people, and pledge to the secretaries of our General Board of Missions our hearty co-operation in raising the remaining $1,500, necessary for its establishment, within our Conference bounds, and we respectfully suggest that it be named the Ephraim E. Wiley Industrial School.

In addition to over-paying the regular assessments this year, Centenary church, Chattanooga, has paid $600 on its special Korean fund and $225 toward the support of a city missionary. We congratulate them on carrying forward their plan so successfully, and express the hope that they will continue to do so.

It is a source of great gratification that for the first time the assessments for Foreign and Domestic have been met without a public collection at the Conference session. Two Districts—The Big Stone Gap and Spring City—sent to your Treasurer the full amount of their assessments before the time of the Annual Conference. We would exhort others to go and do likewise.

The resignation of Dr. L. L. H. Carlock as President of the Board was accepted with regret. We record our gratitude to him for his faithful and efficient services as an officer of the Board of Missions for twelve years. R. A. Kelly was elected President, and W. W. Hicks, Vice-President, of the Board. J. S. French was elected a member of the Board.

The following change in our By-Laws was adopted: By-law 6 was amended so as to read: "The Board shall not appropriate at its annual meeting more than ninety (90) per cent. of the collection for Domestic Missions during the year ended, so that a sufficient reserve may be kept on hand to pay early drafts, the expenses of the Board, and to meet emergencies." The following By-laws were added:

"10. The Secretary of the Board shall issue drafts for the salaries of the Missionaries in its employ quarterly, payable Jan. 15, April 15, July 15, and on the first day of the session of the Annual Conference. Provided, that no draft shall be issued to pay the salary of a missionary until he has sent a report of his work for the quarter to the secretary, which report is to be made on blanks furnished by the Board.

"11. The Treasurer of the Board shall pay out funds for Domestic Missions only on drafts signed by the Secretary and endorsed by the payee, except for his expenses as Treasurer."

The General Board has apportioned $11,000 to be raised in our Conference for Foreign Missions. We ask for $8,000 for Domestic Missions, which sums are apportioned to the several Districts as follows:

	Foreign.	Domestic.
1. Radford	$1,250	$ 890

8. Cleveland	840	610
9. Chattanooga	1,250	900
10. Spring City	700	575

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

Your committee on books and periodicals takes just pride and great pleasure in the advanced strides made by our Church in this important interest, which we find is steadily on the increase. With its founder a scholar, author and lover of books, the Methodist Church cannot afford to do less than follow his illustrious example and teaching in this respect, especially in this year of celebration of his birth. The itinerant Methodist preacher was always ahead of the schoolmaster, and in many sparse settlements the only opportunity the hungry country lad had to get a book to read was at his hands, and most nobly has that band of immortals diffused the light of good literature in all the dark places, and laid the foundations deep and strong in the hearts of our people of love of good books.

In a country where the banner of Christianity was first planted east of the Alleghanies, and the most stirring chapters of history wrought out, what soul in it but should be stirred at a record of the contests and conquests of such a people, and eager to know all about such a history where Asbury and King's Mountain are twin names and household words. Let our ministers and laymen urge on our people to intimate acquaintance with these facts contained in our Church literature, which for thought, piety, and literary excellence is unsurpassed anywhere in the world, and is full of dramatic interest and pathetic incidents.

Our central publications, viz.: the Nashville Christian Advocate, Methodist Quarterly Review, Sunday School Magazine, The Visitor, Epworth Era, Go Forward, Our Homes and The Woman's Missionary Advocate, are all of the highest order of merit and worthy of a place in every home.

The exhibit of the book agents of the Publishing House heretofore presented to this Conference and referred to your committee, we are pleased to report, shows a gratifying condition of that institution, for which we should all feel grateful.

Your committee further show that our own Midland Methodist reports a net gain in subscribers of nearly fourteen hundred (1400) during the past year, being the most prosperous year in its history; that the Rev. J. A. Burrow has been re-elected as its editor for the ensuing year, and we recommend the continuance of the Revs. Eugene Blake, J. W. Perry and Z. T. Godwin as the publication committee for that periodical for the ensuing year on the part of this Conference. To the ministry and laity of our Church is committed the great responsibility of extending the circulation, and reading of these periodicals and of our literature and inspiring a thirst for learning among the people; they are fully abreast of the age and the education and duty of the Church member is incomplete without them.

Your committee desires to endorse in the strongest terms the high order of reading provided for our people in those excellent books of the "Epworth Reading Course," and "The Bible Teacher's Study Circle Courses." With so much of vicious literature offensively obtruding itself on every hand, it is refreshing to see anything so wholesome and instructive as these admirable books, and it is with pleasure we report that they are read with avidity, and the demand for them on the increase. We hail this as a healthy omen.

In this day of many books your committee must be permitted to single out one that in an unusual manner commends itself to the people of this "hill country" and their descendants wherever found. We refer to the great book on the "History of Holston Methodism," by Dr. R. N. Price, the first volume of which is just out. It is a wonderful book and should be read by every patriot, and should be in every home. We endorse it most heartily, and cordially recommend its purchase and perusal by all.

BOARD OF CHURCH EXTENSION.

Your Board is glad to be able to report an advance along all lines of its work. There has been a great revival of church building throughout our bounds. The collections amount in the aggregate to the largest contribution the Conference has ever made to the cause, an excess over last year of $425. Your Board was asked to appropriate $2,500 and had the entire assessment been paid would have been able to have given every cent asked for. We believe a better day is dawning for this department of work. The Church is awaking to the fact that the work of Church Extension is antecedent and fundamental to missions. We believe that no missionary movement can succeed without the work of the Board having first been done, whether done through this Board or the Board of Missions.

The requests of this Board are most reasonable. Our watchword for this quadrennium is: "Church Extension assessment in full." To this end we ask the co-operation of the pastors in the following particulars: We request, first that one Sunday in the year be called "Church Extension Sunday" and be appropriately observed in all our Sunday schools, and the Board undertakes to furnish through its secretary all the literature needed for the proper observance of that day. We request, second, in view of the fact that Church Extension is a mission work, that no surplus be reported on missions from any charge until the Church Extension assessment on that charge is paid in full.

We are assessed by the Parent Board $4,250, which is apportioned on the same basis as last year, as follows:

AUDITING COMMITTEE.

Your auditing committee found its duties to be numerous, and its task a tedious one. The field was new, and we had to blaze out our own paths. There were no sign posts to guide us, but many tracks and footprints in many and opposite directions. We have passed upon the reports of all of the preachers in charge; and, as we ourselves must confess, our work has not been thorough, nor has it been satisfactory to us; and, as the statistical secretaries have repeatedly confessed to your committee and others, our work has been far from satisfactory to them. But, we have made a beginning, although faulty, and it may lead to better results. We beg to make a few suggestions:

1. Some of the reports are models of both neatness and accuracy. We recommend these as precedents and examples to be followed by all of the others.

2. Seventy-six of the reports are written in pencil. We recommend the use of ink in every instance.

3. More than one-half of the reports were inaccurate and had to be corrected.

4. From the reports generally it is manifest that many of the churches and parsonages are not insured at all, or else the preacher in charge has failed to report the facts. A large number are wholly silent on the subject of "insurance carried" and "premiums paid."

5. We fear that the reports, as a whole, have not done justice to the Senior and Junior Leagues, and the Woman's Foreign and Home Mission Societies. In many cases, it appears that the League and Society exist, but the reports wholly fail to show anything raised or collected by either. Your committee must conclude that these young people, wherever organized into Leagues, and these good women of the Church, wherever organized into Missionary Societies, have raised some money, of some amount, and that the absence of any mention of funds in the reports, is chargeable to an omission of the preacher in charge.

6. Enough care, we submit, is not given to the various blanks in the reports. Every blank should be filled, and we recommend the insertion of a mere cipher wherever nothing else can be reported.

7. The work of the statistical secretaries was greatly inconvenienced and much delayed by tardiness of many of the preachers in charge in sending in their reports. We urge promptness in the future. In fact, these reports should be ready when Conference meets.

8. It should result in fewer mistakes next year for your committee to state that the errors discovered in these reports might have readily been avoided by the exercise of a little care.

9. The preachers disagree about the meaning and scope of certain questions. For instance, on "Table No. 2," the last question is: "Total amount reported in this table, not elsewhere reported;" and in table No. 3, the last two questions are: "For other objects;" and "Total amount raised for all objects during the year." The reports show that these questions have been variously construed; and these differences have entailed much confusion in reaching accurate totals. We recommend that the Conference adopt some measure whereby these questions may have an official, authoritative construction.

Your committee was unable to check the reports of the preachers in charge with the record of the funds received by the several treasurers. We visited these treasurers from time to time and from day to day, but found their records incomplete for the reason that some of the preachers had failed to report and turn in their monies. Your committee submit that it might be of much service to the Conference if all reports were made with due promptness; but your committee cannot perform its duty as it should be performed if the only time given to it for checking and comparing in the last few hours of the last day of the Conference session.

Your committee make these suggestions in the interest of correct Conference statistics. Faulty reports mean faulty statistics; and faulty statistics are valueless if the facts are wanted.

SABBATH OBERVANCE.

The secularization of our Holy Sabbath is a growing evil, and the conscience of the Church has dolled with its growth until once outraged it now often goes unresented. In some localities the marts of trade are open, trains make their daily schedules, and amusements are participated in until its old quiet and restfulness belong to the traditions of what is smiled at as quaint old times. Some of our members are patrons of some of the things that tend to breach and despoil the sanctity of God's day. They visit postoffices, news stands, Sunday excursions, and come to regard lightly as a day of meditation. Patriotism as well as piety appeals to us for our zealous concern. It is a vital element in our Christian civilization. The Sabbath of our fathers is a day fixed and sanctified by the meditation and worship and abstinence that has come to be known as the American Sabbath, and it ought not to be compromised to appease any nationality, however reverent his oracles; it ought not to be yielded to any propagandist, however sincere in his faith.

It is the sense of the committee that as preachers and people we ought bravely but prudently to arraign all local infringements; that we avow our sympathy with all scriptural efforts to preserve its integrity, and that we especially co-operate as far as possible with the "Sunday League of America" towards a national movement for the preservation of the Holy Sabbath.

RUFUS M. HICKEY.

The Rev. Rufus M. Hickey was born in Sevier County, Tennessee, August 28, 1820, and died at his residence in Morristown, Tenn., November 5, 1902, at 7 o'clock p. m., aged 82 years, 2 months and 7 days. He was educated at Holston Seminary, an institution of the Methodist Church. He attended this college in the year 1844-45. In 1845 he was licensed to preach at Brush Creek Campground, near what is now Johnson City. In 1845 he was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference, South, his ministerial career beginning with the birth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as a separate ecclesiastical organization. The Conference at which he was admitted was held at Athens, Tenn., and presided over by Bishop James O. Andrew. He was admitted in a class of twelve, and among his classmates were John Alley, Robert A. Young, Carroll Long, Robert W. Pickens and R. M. Whaley. At a Conference held at Jonesboro in 1847, Bishop Andrew presiding, he was received into full connection. For fifty years he was on the effective list, and for seven years he was a superannuate. He served forty years on circuits and stations, and ten years in the presiding eldership. In his prime he always received first class appointments, because he was, among us, a first-class preacher and pastor. He was a natural orator, his action in the pulpit being graceful and his elocution excellent. His sermons were beaten oil, well studied and earnestly and effectively delivered. His imagination was vigorous, his fancy lively, and his pathos exacting. He was a weeping prophet, and he was usually master of the emotions of his audience. As a pastor he was thorough, visiting from house to house, praying with the families, and giving such admonition, advice and encouragement as each case demanded. A successful revivalist, he took large numbers into the Church; and eternity alone will reveal the amount of good he did.

When other preachers found it prudent to refugee from East Tennessee during the troublous times of the war between the states, and the more troublous times immediately after the war, Brother Hickey remained, traveling, preaching, visiting the sick, burying the dead, and holding the storm-tossed barge of his beloved Zion to her moorings amidst the tempests that threatened to wreck her. It was a time that tried men's souls. After the war mobs composed of lewd men of the baser sort, men who had done little but rob and plunder in the name of patriotism, men that, like Job's war horse, had snuffed the battle from afar, undertook by threats of violence to drive the Southern Methodist preachers from the country. Bundles of switches were laid at the churches where Brother Hickey was to preach, and written notices were served on him that he would not be permitted to preach. But none of these things moved him. He trusted in God and met his appointments. Rufus M. Hickey was as brave as Julius Caesar. By courage, prudence, the favor of good men and women, both Union and Confederate, and the protection of a kind Providence, he conquered a peace, not only for himself but for those who came after him.

He was peculiarly characterized by energy; there was not a lazy bone in his body. A bundle of nerves, he could not be still, except when he took rest in sleep. In his last days, when he had no pastoral work, he labored with his own hands, and was never idle. It was the over-taxing of his strength by manual toil a few days before his death, which probably led to his collapse and death. On Sunday before his death he returned from a meeting at Betcar, on the Morristown circuit, where, however, he did not

RUFUS M. HICKEY.

The Rev. Rufus M. Hickey was born in Sevier County, Tennessee, August 28, 1820, and died at his residence in Morristown, Tenn., November 5, 1902, at 7 o'clock p. m., aged 82 years, 2 months and 7 days. He was educated at Holston Seminary, an institution of the Methodist Church. He attended this college in the year 1844-45. In 1845 he was licensed to preach at Brush Creek Campground, near what is now Johnson City. In 1845 he was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference, South, his ministerial career beginning with the birth of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as a separate ecclesiastical organization. He was admitted in a class of twelve, and among his classmates were John Alley, Robert A. Young, Carroll Long, Robert W. Pickens and R. M. Whaley. At a Conference held at Jonesboro in 1847, Bishop Andrew presiding, he was received into full connection. For fifty years he was on the effective list, and for seven years he was a superannuate. He served forty years on circuits and stations, and ten years in the presiding eldership. In his prime he always received first class appointments, because he was, among us, a first-class preacher and pastor. He was a natural orator, his action in the pulpit being graceful and his elocution excellent. His sermons were beaten oil, well studied and earnestly and effectively delivered. His imagination was vigorous, his fancy lively, and his pathos exacting. He was a weeping prophet, and he was usually master of the emotions of his audience. As a pastor he was thorough, visiting from house to house, praying with the families, and giving such admonition, advice and encouragement as each case demanded. A successful revivalist, he took large numbers into the Church; and eternity alone will reveal the amount of good he did.

When other preachers found it prudent to refugee from East Tennessee during the troublous times of the war between the states, and the more troublous times immediately after the war, Brother Hickey remained, traveling, preaching, visiting the sick, burying the dead, and holding the storm-tossed barge of his beloved Zion to her moorings amidst the tempests that threatened to wreck her. It was a time that tried men's souls. After the war mobs composed of lewd men of the baser sort, men who had done little but rob and plunder in the name of patriotism, men that, like Job's war horse, had snuffed the battle from afar, undertook by threats of violence to drive the Southern Methodist preachers from the country. Bundles of switches were laid at the churches where Brother Hickey was to preach, and written notices were served on him that he would not be permitted to preach. But none of these things moved him. He trusted in God and met his appointments. Rufus M. Hickey was as brave as Julius Caesar. By courage, prudence, the favor of good men and women, both Union and Confederate, and the protection of a kind Providence, he conquered a peace, not only for himself but for those who came after him.

He was peculiarly characterized by energy; there was not a lazy bone in his body. A bundle of nerves, he could not be still, except when he took rest in sleep. In his last days, when he had no pastoral work, he labored with his own hands, and was never idle. It was the over-taxing of his strength by manual toil a few days before his death, which probably led to his collapse and death. On Sunday before his death he returned from a meeting at Betcar, on the Morristown circuit, where, however, he did not preach, and entering his home to go out no more alive, he said to his children, "I am very sick." A severe cold, contracted on the trip to the country, had developed a pulmonary congestion which bore him rapidly to the grave. For a few hours at a time he seemed to have relief, and hoped to be up again. The morning of the day he died he talked pleasantly and even humorously, but lovingly and sweetly. But another onset of the destroyer, and this giant oak, already decaying, fell, sending a sensation of surprise and sorrow throughout the Church.

He leaves four interesting and intelligent children, and a large circle of weeping friends, to lament his departure. With a little foresight and caution, he might have lived longer; yet, as it was, he fell like the ripe fruit from the tree. He had reached his four score years, and was ripe for the grave and for Heaven. His beloved wife, as thoughtful and noble a Christian woman as ever presided over a Christian household, had, ten years before, preceded him to the spirit-land. Funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Baylor, in the Presbyterian Church, the 7th, and talks were delivered to a large and sympathizing audience by Revs. J. A. Baylor, R. N. Price, C. T. Carroll, George D. French, David Sullins, and T. P. Summers. The remains were then laid away by the side of the wife of the deceased in the Morristown cemetery.

R. N. PRICE.

ELBERT SEVIER BETTIS.

Elbert Sevier Bettis, son of Simeon and Louisa Bettis, was born in Hamblen County, Tennessee, January 23, 1859. His father was drowned in the Mississippi river in 1864, leaving him fatherless at the tender age of five years. He worked between the plow handles. His mother died when he was eighteen years old. After a hard struggle with financial difficulties, he entered school, and by indomitable will and a wonderful fund of patience, continued until he graduated at Emory and Henry College in 1890, and in the Theological department of Vanderbilt University three years later. He was converted in 1874, and soon thereafter felt his call to the ministry. It was this that kept him in school in the face of many difficulties. He was licensed to preach in 1889 at a Quarterly Conference on his home circuit, presided over by Dr. C. T. Carroll. During his school days he preached much, and, as a supply, served Asheville City mission, Elk Garden Circuit, Trenton Circuit, Cooper mission, Poplar Bluff, Mo., and one of the Tennessee branch prisons as chaplain.

He was ordained local deacon at Abingdon in 1887 by Bishop McTyeire, and local elder in 1891 by Bishop Wilson. He was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference, M. E. Church, South, at Broad Street, Knoxville, in 1893, and into full connection at Tazewell, Va., in 1895. He served the following charges in order: East River mission, two years; West Bluefield mission, two years; Highland Avenue, Knoxville, one year; New River Circuit, two years; Saltville Circuit, a part of one year. When he took hold of West Bluefield mission it had not a member, and only a rented room in which to preach; when he left it had a good brick church, largely paid for, and a membership of 226. His was the only great revival that Bluefield ever had. Everywhere he did thorough and effective work, and was almost idolized by his people. The children loved him devotedly. While on the New River charge he met Miss Kate Pack, of Blacksburg, Va., to whom he was happily married September 26, 1900. On the Saltville charge his health broke down, and he was forced to give up his work. That fall he was placed on the superannuated list.

The brave fight he made for his life is known to us all. In New Mexico and Arizona he lived awhile in a tent, cooked for himself, and tried to breathe new life into the diseased lung tissues that were slowly but surely surrendering to the struggle. Our Southern Methodist pastors at these places proved of invaluable help and sympathy to him. His brethren of the Holston Conference, and friends on charges that he had served, did not forget him. The gratitude and warmth of his appreciation and love came back often in letters full of faith and courage.

The good wife joined him some months before his death, and was with him, tender and true, to the last. Concerning that death, which occurred at Phoenix, Ariz., March 2, 1903, Rev. R. A. Rowland, of our Central Church there, wrote: "The end came to Brother Bettis very quickly at fifteen minutes after midnight Saturday. I saw him alive for the last time Friday evening. I read part of the thirty-seventh Psalm to him, and while reading the thirty-seventh verse—'Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace'—I could not help thinking what a striking commentary on the truth of that passage was the approaching end of our dear brother. 'Peace' expresses his end as no other word does. He had such a perfect trust in God that he was absolutely without a care, and had no wish except the will of his heavenly Father."

A letter from the faithful wife says that on the last day he said to her: "Katie, I will soon be in heaven; stay near me today." All that day he whispered sweetly of things eternal, and prayed tenderly for the good wife by his side. He made all arrangements for the taking of his body back to the dear old hills of Holston, dictated telegrams, gave directions, and sent messages of gratitude and love to his brethren and friends afar. We have never had a truer, braver, purer man than this brother whose body sleeps, with other Holston heroes, on the beautiful green hill at Emory, Va.

JONES FOSTER HASH.

Jones Foster Hash was born in Grayson County, Virginia, January 28, 1870, and was consciously and savingly converted to God in his nineteenth year. The following year he was licensed to preach, his license being signed by Rev. W. W. Hicks, who was his presiding elder at that time. From the very beginning he gave promise of great usefulness to the Church. August 30, 1891, he was happily married to Miss Sallie Grubb, who proved an invaluable helper in his life work as an itinerant minister to the day on which he was released from the responsibilities of earth and was permitted to join the general assembly and Church of the First Born in heaven.

He was admitted on trial into the Holston Conference at Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1891; ordained deacon October 28, 1894, by Bishop Granbery, at Abingdon, Va.; ordained elder by Bishop Galloway at Cleveland, Tenn., October 11, 1896. He finished his work and fell on sleep August 18, 1903, at Rocky Gap, Bland County, Virginia. During these years he served the following circuits with great acceptability and marked usefulness: New Hope, one year; Evansville, two years; Spring City, one year; Riceville, two years; Trenton, two years; Whitwell, two years; Rocky Gap, one year and a part of the present year. This was his last charge. During the second year on this circuit, where his labors had been crowned with much success, his health failed, and in a few months his work was done. On some of these charges he was forced, out of a meager support, to pay for a house in which to live, because they were not provided with parsonages. The salaries allowed him for the eleven best and most productive years of his life average $454 per year. The amount he received on his allowance makes an average of $307.48 per year. There is due him, in unpaid salaries from those charges, the sum of $1,607.75, which would be but a pittance to the large number of Methodists composing those charges. This amount would now purchase a home for the widow and the little orphan children who are left without the guidance, protection, and counsel of husband and father. Outside of the Methodist ministry, where is such sublime heroism to be found?

Brother Hash had reasonably good educational advantages, he having attended school at Bridle Creek Academy, Sparta Institute, and for a time at Emory and Henry College. He was a man of fine personal appearance, was a good all-round preacher. He was a safe man everywhere. He was earnest, pathetic, fluent, and at times really eloquent. He was a good revivalist, and always had good revivals wherever he labored. It is safe to say that through his instrumentality scores, if not hundreds, were brought to Jesus. The material interests of the Church also prospered under his oversight, but it was as a pastor that he excelled. He was as thoughtful, sympathetic, and tender as a mother to those in distress. He loved the Church, loved the ministry, and literally wore himself out in its service in a few brief years.

While we cherish his memory in all these ways, it was in the home that his life work appears to best advantage. In a letter written by the sorrowing and almost broken-hearted widow I find this sentence: "He prayed much in secret, and some of the most fervent prayers he ever uttered were at his own family altar, where he opened his heart in confession, and where he consecrated himself anew to our Lord and His service, and where he sought to pitch his whole conduct on the highest plane of Christian living." Noble testimony to a pure life! What a joy it must be to wife and children to read on the fly leaf of his Bible, written by that hand now motionless in the grave: "God help me to be pure in thought and action!" He told his wife that his prolonged afflictions had been a great blessing to him spiritually. He spoke of the mistakes he had made, and endeavored to correct them. He was aware that his end was drawing near, and desired to live to take care of his family, provide for and educate the children God had given him; but the greatest trial of his life was to surrender his weapons as a minister of the Gospel and cease to continue his loved employ. His consuming desire is thus expressed:

"Happy, if with my latest breath
I may but gasp His name;
Preach Him to all, and cry in death,
'Behold, behold the Lamb!'"

It was a mournful pleasure to his family and friends to lay his body to rest at the church, in Grayson County, Virginia, where he was converted and where he joined in his youth. May his fallen mantle, in the coming years, rest upon his children, and may the noble impulses which actuated the father to consecrate his all to God and the Church be theirs and be reproduced in them, and the ranks now broken be restored forever! His home, our ministry, our Conference—each is poorer because of his departure, and heaven is richer for his having gone up on high.

R. A. OWEN.

MRS. TOBIAS F. SMYTH.

Four miles northwest of Wytheville is the old Brown homestead. The environments are rich in the beauty of grass-covered knolls. The brook that flows through the farm is violet-brinked and in eddy places mirrors the sky. There Orrie Brown was born October 11, 1846, and there from childhood her eyes feasted on clean, beautiful, and inspiring things. She seemed to grow striving to make her life conformable to the beauty that was all around her. Her spirit was blithe as a summer day; her life as pure as a Mayflower.

Her family was Lutheran. Her uncle, James Brown, was a Lutheran minister. But the parents attended the Methodist services at Mt. Pleasant, took the children, or permitted them to go, and then at an early age she was converted and joined our Church. Was she to be a Methodist minister's wife? To be or not to be, she was. And it was well.

She was married to Rev. T. F. Smyth, September 22, 1868, and with joy she shared with him, till he was removed by death ten years ago, the lot of the itineracy. In all the appointments of her husband she was a genuine helpmeet. Wherever they went she was deservedly popular, and many in the charges served by her husband have heard of her death with genuine sorrow, and dropped a tear to her memory. When her husband died, although she was entitled to a place as a claimant on the superannuate fund, she relinquished it in favor of the poorer widows and their orphan children. After her husband's death she did not lose interest in Church work. She was talking of equipments of the new church, hard by the home, just before her fatal sickness. But while she loved her own Church with intensest affection she was a friend and helper to all others who loved her Lord in sincerity.

She was a great friend and valuable counselor of the young. Having no children of her own, she was like a mother, or an elder sister, to her nephews and nieces, and her counsel to them was worth more than any gifts of gold could possibly be.

She not only loved her Church, and was loved by the members in return, but she was the devoted friend of the ministers, and they reciprocated her sisterly regard and esteem. Every minister of our Conference may know that in her death he has lost a friend.

There could really be but one thing the basis of her beautiful character, her useful and unsullied life. She had natural goodness, she cultivated gentleness of speech and action; but the chief foundation was her vital piety, her communion with God. A Bible student, she was "like a tree planted by the rivers of water." Being dead, her words, like leaves of an evergreen tree, still live; and her deeds still invite others to follow her as she followed Christ.

Sister Smyth's health was not robust for several years prior to her last illness. And all unconsciously to herself she was ripening for the kingdom of glory, getting ready for celestial transplanting. She was ready when she was summoned through the thorny path of pain to walk, she knew not whether back to health and friends on earth, or down into and across the valley of the shadow of death to those beyond; for she said, when about to be placed on the table for the surgical operation, which it was hoped would save the life suspended in imminent peril: "In the hands of the Lord I place myself, and it is all right anyway." Beautiful resignation! Sublime faith! In this tabernacle we "groan, being burdened; not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life." All right it is, forever and for evermore!

Her aged father survives to mourn for a little while his great bereavement; the sisters and brothers, too, feel most keenly this affliction which was so unexpected. Her fond nephews and nieces will deplore her demise, as if a mother had been taken. May the kind Father enable all to say: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord!"

W. W. HICKS.

MRS. MARY ANN HUTSELL.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hutsell was born in Buncombe County, North Carolina, April 13, 1818. She was married to Rev. E. K. Hutsell, April 15, 1840. Her husband was a member of the Holston Conference, was a gifted preacher, and especially successful in revival work. He died in middle life. Sister Hutsell died at the home of her son-in-law, Silas Sharp, near LaFollette, Tenn., November 29, 1902. She was a woman of bright intellect and strong character. After the death of her sainted husband, she found herself with several children to support, and very little means. She had quite a good English education for her day, and turned it to account in school teaching. She was popular and successful, and thus enabled to do much good while she was supporting herself and her children. She professed faith in Christ in her thirteenth year, and joined the Methodist Church. Her religious life was not only orderly and consistent, but zealous and useful. She was a constant and extensive reader. While she kept well up with the general literature of her time, she delighted in reading the standard religious books of her Church, and was a regular and careful Bible reader. She thus became an intelligent and mature Christian, with strong faith and bright hope of eternal life.

Her reverence for the memory of her husband, which she held and nurtured to the last, was beautiful indeed. She spent the last several years of her life in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Silas Sharp, where everything that the tenderest affection could suggest was provided for her comfort. When age and infirmity would no longer permit her to go abroad, she spent her time reading, and instructing her grandchildren in letters and religion. She is the mother of Rev. R. A. Hutsell, of the Holston Conference, who has inherited the gifts and graces of both his father and mother in an eminent degree. Such a life could but have a good ending. As she stood on the bank of the Jordan, and looked over into the beautiful land of promise, she said in the confidence of the faith which she had so carefully kept and cultivated, "I am almost home." When she entered the pearly gate what a hearty welcome did she receive from the husband of her youth, who had been in heaven the half of a century, watching and waiting for her! And what a happy union between these two loving hearts, so long separated. All the tenderest depths of my heart are stirred as I thus write about Sister Hutsell. Her husband was my spiritual father, and she has been a lifelong, loving friend. We shall meet again.

FRANK RICHARDSON.

MRS. J. D. M'ALISTER.

Mrs. Buna Moore McAlister was born at Dandridge, Tenn., May 20, 1865, and died at Cedar Bluff, Va., February 27, 1903. She was married to Rev. J. D. McAlister at Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 5, 1891. When she was about ten years of age, she gave her heart to the Savior. During a meeting held at Broad Street, Knoxville, conducted by Bros. Dodge and Henck, she entered into the experience of entire sanctification. This was about the year 1889. Her's was a simple, devoted, Christian life. The writer will never forget the effective help rendered by her in a meeting held by him in his church at Fountain City, Tenn. During the pastorate of her husband at Greeneville, Tenn., Dr. B. Carradine was invited to hold a series of meetings in his church (M. E. Church, South). During this marvelous revival, Bro. McAlister entered in the same experience, to the great joy of the now sainted wife. She received large measures of understanding and power in these meetings, and her growth in the graces of the Spirit was remarkable. She was a most intelligent, industrious and self-reliant woman, and when business reverses impoverished her family while she was still in her 'teens, she came forward as the chief stay and counselor in her home.

As a church worker, she was, from her conversion, efficient and successful. She was a most valuable helper of her husband in his work as pastor, in organizing and sustaining the societies of the church, and in leading souls to Jesus. Soul-saving was her chief aim, and, in this she was eminently successful. During the eleven years of her married life, she led not less than two hundred souls to Christ by personal work alone, in their homes or in her own, to say nothing of the large numbers she influenced by her words and works in public gatherings.

As a mother she was sacrificing, tender, patient and firm. She diligently studied the life of Mrs. Susanna Wesley as a mother, and strove to emulate the virtues of that noble woman. This she succeeded in doing in a remarkable degree. During her last days on earth, she so fortified and instructed the hearts of her children as to how they should bear her departure, and conduct themselves afterward, that her home was orderly and easily managed after her translation to glory. It is most remarkable how the children are running in the ways wherein she instructed them.

As a friend she was so loyal and sympathetic, so strong and tender, that her equals brought her their perplexities and burdens, assured that their confidences would be respected, and that they would receive wise counsel and help. The poorest and most ignorant saw in her the Spirit of the Master, and came to her with the same implicit love and trust. This made heavy demands on her time and strength, but she freely gave up both in His name. She was sweet, clear, serene, unwavering in her Christian character, mellow and constantly triumphant in her experience. The spirit of wisdom and of a sound mind, of glory and of power, rested strongly upon her. She was a most intelligent Christian, professing and adorning the Biblical and Methodist doctrine of entire sanctification, and was ever ready to give a reason for the hope within. She knew her Bible from cover to cover. The markings in it, if studied, would be a liberal education to many who think themselves prepared to preach. She was well versed in the doctrine and discipline of her Church. She was well acquainted with Methodist history, and communed much with the master spirits of the movement, such as the Wesleys, Fletcher, Watson, Carvosso and others. She had a great faith and dared to ask for great things. It was her faith that led to the establishment of an orphanage at Greeneville, Tenn. She rode on horseback for fifteen miles, with her babe in her arms, and secured from an humble, holy widow a subscription of $500, which was the first cash paid into the orphanage building fund.

Sister McAlister was not strong physically, and for months before her death, was a great sufferer, but no word of complaint ever escaped her lips. The will of God was her will. As the time of her departure drew nearer her joy increased. Her mouth was filled with praise, and when the final summons came she broke forth into rapturous shoutings, and thus ascended to glory.

W. D. AKERS.

MRS. SEWELL PHILLIPS.

Through some inadvertence the memoir of Mrs. Sewell Phillips was not ready at Conference, and is not now in hand, though some one was asked to prepare it. The secretary can only make mention of her name here in this sacred place. After all, it is not what men write about us, but what is written down in our favor in the Lamb's book of life. The preachers' wives deserve respect and admiration for their loyalty to the cause, and their fidelity in the roving life and vicissitudes of the itinerancy. The faithful ones will stand among the sun-crowned heirs of life eternal at last.
